McLaren Lumber Co. Preparing New Camp Just South of Coleman

Will Have Three Camps Going for Winter Months-Big Expenditure for Road Building

Additional employment to over 100 men will be available as soon as the new camp of the McLaren Lumber Co. is ready for receiving the men. A large sum of money has been spent on the trail leading from York Creek to the camp, and log buildings are being erected, including cook-houses, bunk-houses and other buildings necessary for the winter months.

In addition to this new camp, the company also has a camp on Allison Creek, and one near Crows Nest Mountain, which will be in operation and from which logs will be hauled during the winter.

There is every indication of a good run of business, states Mr. A. Gregg, resident manager of the company, and preparations are being made to have all three camps in operation as early as possible. The preparation of the new camp has entailed considerable work in putting in new bridges at several places on York Creek, owing to its winding nature.

The showing of the splendid picture "Dawn" at the Palace theatre last Friday and Saturday evenings was attended by a large number of people from the city and other towns in the Pass, who were all well pleased. The part played by Sybil Thorndike as Nurse Edith Cavell was exceptionally well played, and the picture brought to mind the war and the many tragic incidents of the years 1914-18.

"YUM-YUMS" A PRIZE-WINNER

The Pekingese spaniel owned by Miss Constance Hope won distinction in its class at Lethbridge exhibition, winning four firsts, a second and third prize. As "Yum-Yum" is only ten months old, she is well on the road to fame and fortune in winning so many prizes at this stage of her career.

Judging by the sounds of harmony that proceed from the K. of P. hall, the orchestral society will have a very fine program for the people of Coleman very shortly.

Mrs. Ireland recently returned from a three months' visit with relatives in Ontario, and spent part of the time on a motor tour to Buffalo, Niagara and the like.

Mrs. John Crawford and son Ian intend sailing from Montreal on Sept. 7th by the Cunard liner "Athenia" for Glasgow, and will make a prolonged visit with relatives in Scotland.

Robert and Dave Milligan drove from Drumheller on Sunday, bringing their sister, Miss Milligan, of the public school staff, who spent the latter part of the summer vacation at her home.

THE LOOK-OUT STATION

Forest Wealth of Rocky Mountain Territory is Closely Watched Over Day and Night

"When you come to the end of a perfect day, and you sit alone with your thoughts!"

During the beautiful summer days of July and August, and the shorter days of September and October, with bracing morning air and golden sunsets, who has an opportunity to enjoy Nature's mountain grandeur, in perfect solitude, better than "Bill" Valentine, the forester who looks out man at the Forest Look-out station high up in the Rocky Mountains, nine miles south of Coleman? You cannot see his cabin from town, for it is hidden by an intervening range of mountains, but there is a spot on the Blairmore road when the sun catches it in the evening, that one can just distinguish it, perched at an elevation of about 7,000 feet.

How does he pass the time? What amusement does he get? What does he think about? Does he feel lonesome? These questions will occur to one visiting there for the first time. There is a neat cabin right on the point of a ridge, the end of a long chain. Bill keeps daily watch (except when the cabin is wrapped in mist), and the first sign of forest fire or any other fire is telephoned into Forest Ranger Harry Bouton at Coleman, and transmitted to the ranger in charge of the territory further south. Thus are the forests of the Canadian Rockies guarded day and night by lone watchmen who ask no other company than occasional visits of the rangers, who bring their provisions weekly, or the little chipmunks who soon get to know that the look-out man is their friend, and come around regularly for their meal, and sit there half the time, the pride of their lonely companion.

It was the writer's pleasure to visit Bill last week, in company with Big Bill Antel, of Coleman Forestry Station. What was lacking in sunshine that cloudy day was made up for in the quiet warmth of Bill's welcome, when in the little cabin with its glass windows on all sides a meal was prepared which after the arduous climb from the valley of the Pass was appreciated at its true value. And what did you have to eat?—somebody will ask. Well, we had tomato soup, beefsteak cooked to a turn, and to crown it all a blueberry pie made from the berries Bill had gathered from the mountain side, and crumbled meat like a sandwich, and made "em" by himself. With excellent tea, and a smoke afterwards, who could wish for anything better after a hard ride in the mountains? And meanwhile the saddle horses and the sturdy pack-horses were enjoying their feed of hay and oats with equal relish, for a trail work through the hills uses up a lot of energy and horses must be well cared for if they are to perform their part in the forest patrol.

So after a couple of hours' visit, during which a violent rain-storm has beaten over the peaks, the sun breaks through the clouds, and for a few moments one looks over the top ridge of the mountain, and the lower levels which are wreathed in mist, and the dome of Old Crow can be seen like a huge chunk floating on the clouds, for nothing can be seen of the lower part of the big mountain.

You're up in the clouds without a doubt! But with a break in the weather, departure is no longer delayed. Horses are saddled, the pack made fast, and with a parting greeting to the host, the visitors quickly disappear in the mist down the mountain side, dropping almost 1500 feet in less than a mile of travel, when the air is clearer and progress easier for man and horse, for the first part of the descent is so steep that careful walking is the only way of travel.

And reaching the hall again, one takes a lingering look up at the hills. The cabin has long since been shut up, but the thought remains that Bill is up there, looking—watching—ever on guard over the forest wealth of the mountains, and like a sentinel on outpost, ready to send the alarm over the forest telephone

Where Co-operation Is Needed

The movement of ten thousand unemployed British miners to Canada to work as harvest hands in the grain fields of the West is so significant, and may have such far-reaching results, that it warrants additional consideration to that already given in a previous article in this column.

Suppose the situation was reversed and there was a surplus of ten of thousands of farmers' sons and farm hands in Western Canada who could not find employment, while, on the other hand, there was a shortage of miners in the coal-mining districts of the British Isles, and the experiment was tried of transporting an army of men from the grain fields of the West to those of the British Isles.

Under such circumstances the sympathy of the people of Canada would go out to their sons as they journeyed to an unfamiliar country to engage in work of which they had no knowledge or training, and to live under conditions entirely new to them. There would be hope in the hearts of the relatives and friends of those men that the British people and the mine bosses would be considerate in their treatment, lenient in their judgments, sympathetic and patient in assisting the strangers to adjust themselves to their own environment and make good.

Fortunately for Canada's sons do not have to go abroad in order to find work and opportunity, because nowhere in the world today are more plentiful, nowhere do greater opportunities present themselves than in Canada. This very fact should, however, provide a greater incentive to those who are able to extend a heartening welcome and a helping hand to these British miners.

Judging by numerous statements made by these men, the vast majority of them have come to Canada with the right spirit—a real determination to "make good" and achieve not merely a temporary but a permanent success in this country. They come wholly inexperienced in the work they are to undertake. Instead of working eight hours a day, they will be required to work from early dawn till dark, but the spirit of the men was expressed by one of them on the eve of sailing when he said that eighteen hours at work in the open fields and fresh air of the prairies would not be any worse than eight hours under ground in a coal mine.

Endure over the ocean, the first group of miners willered back to the British Isles, but those who were determined to succeed, and the men of the prairies in Canada, and again in Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, and other points of distribution, man after man expressed the same view, namely, that they were anxious to make a success in Canada and were hopeful of securing work after the harvest and becoming permanent citizens of the Dominion.

These men by the act of their coming to Canada as harvest hands have shown that they prefer work, even hard unaccustomed toil, to living in idleness on the "dole" in Britain. Each and every one of them had to pass a rigorous physical examination before being allowed to sail. They are, therefore, the pick of the unemployed miners, and, animated by this desire to "make good" they should succeed if given a fair chance, and a helping hand and encouragement.

This chance, assistance and encouragement should be forthcoming in large measure from the Canadian people as a whole and, in particular, from the individual farmers who employ them. It will be necessary to show these men how their work should be done and how to do it. This will require tact and patience. Too much must not be expected of them. And the man who makes an honest effort to learn, who shows a real determination to work and render service to his employer, is deserving of every encouragement.

Such encouragement cannot be better shown than by a kindly, sympathetic attitude a personal interest in the man's welfare, and, in all cases where it is possible to do so, by the offer of a job for the winter. The knowledge that, if he shows a disposition to do good, he will be provided with work for the winter, will give him an opportunity to become a permanent citizen in Canada, will provide the greatest possible incentive to a man who is desirous of achieving that result. And it is settlers of this British type of which Canada stands in need.

If both parties to this unique experiment strive to make it a success there is no reason why it should not succeed, and if it does prove successful—its success being judged by the results of the movement as a whole rather than by individual cases—then it will, in all probability, prove the beginning of a new and worthwhile immigration from the congested groups of the unemployed in the British Isles to the open spaces of Canada, where, through their labor, such people will be an important factor in bringing large tracts of vacant lands under cultivation, and in providing the necessary manpower to develop many as yet untouched natural resources of the Dominion, and to furnish homes for themselves and adding measurably to the productive capacity, wealth and prosperity of Canada and incidentally of the Empire as a whole.

No Menace To Consumer

British Delegates Returns Home Favorably Impressed With Wheat Pool

"We do not agree with those who say that the池塘 is the only advantage of the consumer," writes Henry J. May, general secretary of the International Co-operative Alliance, who was one of the principal speakers at the recent international wheat pool conference.

Mr. May expresses his views in the Co-operative News, published in Manchester, England.

He states that the economy of production on large scale methods, the elimination of the middlemen's profits and improvement in selection of seed, made it possible for wheat pool members to reap larger profits from their crops and at the same time to give better values to the consumers.

When secured, the hundred dogs will be loaded on the steamer and brought to Quebec to be shipped to the Pacific coast, where they will be picked up by Commander Byrd.

British Immigration

Conference Between Lord Lovat and Ottawa Authorities Brings Results

When the immigration conference between Lord Lovat, head of the Empire Settlement Board, and federal immigration leaders concluded at Ottawa on Monday, one of the leaders issued, saying "it is confidently expected that the result of these negotiations will be a steady increase in the flow of suitable, British migrants to Canada."

The conference discussed various matters arising out of British emigration to and settlement in the Dominion, with particular reference to the fact that to be adopted both in Canada and in Britain. It had effect to the recommendations of the standing committee of the House of Commons on agriculture and colonization. All these recommendations and other proposals made by Lord Lovat have been fully and frankly discussed, with a thorough appreciation of the difficulties on both sides and in every case a satisfactory understanding had been arrived at, the statement said.

Heavy Apple Crop

Increase Of Almost 900,000 Boxes Of Apples From Okanagan District Is Indicated

An increase of almost 900,000 boxes in the shipment of apples from the Okanagan fruit district is indicated in a report issued today by P. W. White, superintendent of car service, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg. The latest estimates indicate that the "McIntosh" crop will amount to 2,420,400 boxes as compared with 738,400 boxes in 1930, or an increase of 312 per cent. The total apple crop, which comprises largely the "McIntosh" and the " Wealthy" brands, is expected to amount to 3,028,350 boxes this season, which is an increase of 800,840 boxes over last year.

BABY GIRL HAD DIARRHEA WHEN CUTTING TEETH

Mrs. A. J. Murray, Gulf Lake, Saskatchewan, writes: "Last summer, my baby girl, who was 10 months old, had a very bad case of diarrhea. I didn't know just what to do for her as she couldn't retain anything. At last one of my neighbors said to me, ' Haven't you any why I wouldn't be without it where there are children?'

"My husband went to town and got a bottle, and the very first dose helped her wonderfully, and in three days she was well again. I have since been running around as well as ever."

Reindeer For Hudson's Bay Area

12,000 Reindeer From Alaska To Be Sent Overland

Shortly after the fawning season is over, 12,000 reindeer will be herded from Alaska to the shores of Hudson's Bay, according to N. A. Garrison, of the Dominion Reindeer Board. This is due to the rapid increase of the herd of 1,240 animals started in Alaska thirty years ago. Progress will be slow, the herd traveling about ten miles per day. But first, the shortest route must be found and charted.

Was Very Delicate

New Health Came Through Using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Mrs. Casper Miller, Lourdes, N.S., says that twice in her lifetime she has reason to be thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her. She says she was a very delicate invalid, living interminably, when first found lame by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I was a sufferer with cramps and rheumatism, and could hardly move around at all. One day when I was very sick a friend came in to see me and said to me, 'Don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.' I know they will do her a world of good." This year was my mother's sixtieth birthday. I had a cold and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did not help. I had a toothache and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills relieved it. I have found benefit from them. By the time I had taken all them I felt all I ate a different girl and no longer suffered from cramps.

Then a few years ago I was attacked with influenza, and was sick for six weeks. Again I started taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and again they brought me good health. I am the mother of a family and a good wife, so you see I have to be well. I have a toothache and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help me. If you are suffering from any condition due to a fever, watery blood, or diarrhea, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will help you. Don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now and note how your strength and health will improve. You can get these pills at 65 cents a box from Th. Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Reforms In China

Women Must Bob Hair And Remove Blouses From Feet

The minister of health of public welfare has decreed that Chinese women under 30 years of age must bob their hair or pay a "degeneracy tax."

The order became effective Sept. 1. It is meant to discourage the old Manchu style of hair dressing and contradicts the ruling of General Chu Yu-Pu, military governor of Chihli under the former regime, who repudiated hair bobbing, threatening to punish even his own consorts for disobeying this edict.

The man, Ho Chi-Kung, is determined to eliminate feudalistic habits still adhered to by some of the Peking people. He has ordered that men who insist upon wearing queues must pay a heavy monthly tax and women must remove the bindings from their feet within the next few days or pay a periodical fine.

Supplies For Northern Posts

Schooner Sails From Vancouver On Mission For R.C.M.P.

The new auxiliary schooner St. Roch, of the R.C.M.P., has set sail from Vancouver to carry fresh supplies and the posts in the R.C.M.P. It is manned by a crew of 13 officers and men headed by Captain W. G. Gillen, Vancouver, and P. Kelly, chief engineer. The course for the northern trip is through Bering Strait and around the north-eastern tip of Alaska to the Mackenzie territory. By radio the floating detachment will keep in touch with headquarters at all times. Members of the R.C.M.P. comprising the crew include Constables T. G. Parson, M. J. Olsen, Larsen, Tuder, Foster, Sealey, and Lamotte.

Many insects are infested by worms which cause great suffering, and if not promptly dealt with may cause constitutional weaknesses difficult to remedy. Miller's Worm Powders will clear the body and banish the worms and will so do upon the system that there will be no recurrence of the trouble. And not only this, but they will also heal the injuries to the organs that worms cause and restore them to soundness.

Planting Trees On Highway

One of The Most Profitable Driveways In Western Canada Planned By Mr. Pat Burns

The main south highway from the Calgary city limits south to Midnapore, some ten miles, will be transformed into one of the most beautiful drives in Western Canada with in the next two years as a result of the decision made by Patrick Burns, well known pioneer cattleman and rancher, to plant trees on his land, which skirts both sides of the highway clear through to Midnapore.

Work of preparing the land for tree planting is already under way. The first trees will be planted next spring. The section between Calgary and Midnapore will be completed next summer, and it is possible that Mr. Burns will extend his activities further south the following year, as he owns a considerable amount of land south of Midnapore. Russian poplars will be used with maples scattered here and there.

Protect the child from the ravages of worms by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is a standard remedy, and years of use have enhanced its reputation.

Sugar Beet Culture

Can Be Raised In Widely Separated Parts Of The Dominion

In an analysis of sugar beet culture in Canada, the Department of the Interior, through its Natural Resources Intelligence Service, points out that the best varieties for sugar beets can be raised in more widely separated parts of the Dominion—good seed being produced as well. Formerly good seed had to be imported from France, Germany, Russia and Denmark. Outstanding localities for sugar beet growing are the warmer parts of Ontario, the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia, and the Maritime Provinces.

ASK FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAYS IN THE WEST

Edmonton—Launching of a strong campaign for federal aid for highways was expected at a meeting of the national directors of the Canadian Motor Association, held here, when A. B. Mackay, provincial president, and Fred R. Brason, head of the Calgary branch, were also present. This will be following up the request made at the annual convention held last spring when a resolution asking the federal authorities to grant $50,000,000, which would be spread over a term of five years, was passed. The sum specified would be used for the Dominion and greatly adding to Canada's tourist attractions in that way.

The sum of $50,000,000, made in 1930, was to be used, was distributed on a basis of population to the various provinces. It is felt that this basis works out unfairly on the far-flung prairies especially, and that it should be apportioned on a mileage basis instead.

President A. B. Mackay is strong in favor of a vigorous campaign to secure federal aid and feels that there should be no delay in showing the Dominion authorities that there is a feeling throughout the country in favor of such assistance for highway programs.

Receives Appointment

Gen. Gough Given Position More Is Keeping With His Station In Life

Quebec—Although he was making expenses and was learning French through contact with other employees at the hotel where he was engaged in washing dishes, Brig.-Gen. Charles Henry Gough has decided to accept an appointment more in keeping with his former condition. Thanks to the publicity which he received when an officer of H.M.A.S. Australia, met him here and "revealed" to a local paper that the former soldier was doing menial work, General Gough has received an offer of an appointment with a company operating a steamer service on the St. Lawrence River in the Gulf.

May Remodel Liquor Act

British Columbia May Follow Line Of Quebec System

Victoria, B.C.—"We are just stock taking now," Hon. R. P. Foyle, attorney-general in the new Conservative cabinet stated. "We can't say much about things until we have finished that."

The attorney-general intimated, however, that there would be lots of action soon and agreed that the liquor act was one that would receive early attention. Conservatives in touch with party leaders have suggested that the British Columbia act may be remodeled somewhat after the lines of the Quebec act.

Would Adopt Draastic Measure

Toronto—The Chief Constable's Association of Canada, in session here, announced a committee to urge Ottawa to fingerprint all immigrants to Canada. The residence period required for naturalization from three to ten years, make criminal misconduct grounds for deportation of even naturalized citizens, and widen the identification act to fingerprint even vagrants.

Search Proves Fruitious

Rome—Extensive searches among the islands of Northeast Land and in Queen Victoria Sea almost as far as Franz Josef Land by various vessels for the missing Amundsen and Italia groups thus far have been unsuccessful, the base ship Città Di Milano at King's Bay reports. The ice-breaker Braganza has also been taking part in the search.

Charged With Violating Sales Tax Act

Toronto—Police acting under orders of the federal government arrested eight men and two women here on charges of violating the Dominion Sales Tax Act. The arrested are all officials and employees of manufacturing firms. Bail in each case was fixed at $5,000.

London—Alarming floods are causing much damage to property and roads in Gloucester and Westmoreland while floods in Cheshire have wrought much damage to crops. Harvesting at many points is at a standstill.

British Warship Not Welcome

SoVIET Government Will Not Permit Warship To Transfer Bodies Of Submarine Crew

Moscow, U.S.S.R.—The Soviet news agency Tass says that in response to a British request through the Norwegian mission to Moscow, that Great Britain be allowed to send a warship to transfer the bodies of the crew of the recently raised submarine L-55 from Leningrad to England, the Soviet Government has replied that it cannot consent to a British warship entering Soviet territorial waters.

The Soviet Government would not object to a warship of a friendly nation such as Norway or a British merchantman coming.

The L-55 was in 1919 while assisting the white Russians against the Bolshevik Government, but recently was raised by the Soviet authorities, who found a number of skeletons of British seamen.

University Women Meet

Membership Of Federation Now Stands At Nearly Two Thousand

Vancouver—Women's place today, her participation in world affairs, and her limitations because she is a woman, were some of the topics discussed at the fourth triennial conference of the Canadian Federation of University Women by Mrs. Margaret L. Lander.

Mrs. Lander said that "the woman who deliberately turns her back upon marriage, upon a home and children, is making the greatest mistake of her life, but forcing these things upon women only breeds unhappiness for all."

The membership report of the federation was read by Miss Marjorie Gregg of Ottawa. The various efforts to increase the membership which now stands at 1,802, with twenty-seven affiliations, were outlined.

Vessels Are Leaving

For Hudson Bay

Ship Movements From Montreal To Bay Have Been Numerous This Season

Montreal—Ship movements from Montreal to Hudson Bay have been fairly numerous this season, the departure of the copper barge and other craft for service at Fort Churchill, terminus of the Hudson Bay railway, where a modern ocean harbor is being developed. Three more vessels sailed recently from the Canadian Vickers shipbuilding plant, comprising another 8-yard dumper dredge, Churchill No. 1, which was constructed by that firm, a self-propelled copper barge. Chesterfield, which was built by the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company and the powerful tug, Dainty, purchased by the Canadian Vessel Company, are due to leave.

As millions listened-in by radio, the new leader of the Democratic advocated modification of both the Senate and the right-wing House of Representatives to fit it to the problem of controlling crop surpluses his immediate statement if elected, added the administration's Nicaraguan and Mexican policy, and pledged himself to a "real" endeavor to outlaw war.

He also called for a reorganization of Federal Government activities on a business basis; declared that neither he nor the Democratic party contemplated "sudden or drastic" changes in tariff schedules; reaffirmed his stand in favor of a minimum wage and of protection of workingmen.

While standing "squarely" on the Democratic platform declaration for restrictive immigration, the nominee asserted that he was "heartily in favor of removing from the immigration law the harsh provision which separates families" and who "opposed the principle of restriction based upon the figures of immigrant population contained in a census 35 years old."

Ten Miles Of Bituminous Surface Road To Be Built As Experiment

Banff, Alberta—The entire motor highway from the east end of the western end of the Banff national park may be paved with a bituminous surface if experiments now under way under the supervision of J. A. Harkin, commissioner of parks for the Dominion Government, are successful. This information was given out by Mr. Harkin himself.

Mr. Harkin said that the present experiment will include the building of bituminous surfaced roads for five miles east and five miles west of Banff, making ten miles in all.

Alberta Experimental Tests

May Establish Permanent Experimental Farm In Alberta

Edmonton—Experimental tests of an extensive nature are being carried on in Alberta, in common with other provinces, to determine the best methods of agriculture. In this province, the work concerning grains and grasses is being undertaken on a large scale while growing of sunflower range feeds and tobacco is also receiving special attention.

Dr. Grisdale left for a visit to the Peace River country. While in that area, he will likely select a location for a permanent experimental station as the one now operated at Balfour, which has met with success. After looking over property in the Grande Prairie, Wembley, and Beaver Lodge districts, he will submit a recommendation as to what section should be acquired by the federal government for the development of its permanent work in the north.

Governor Smith States Policy In Vigorous Speech

Albany, N.Y.—With all the force at his command Alfred Smith, governor of the state of New York, told the legislature yesterday that he would do if elected president. In aggressive fashion, he accepted the Democratic nomination with a speech which not only set forth his stand on prohibition, agriculture, foreign relations and other public questions, but accused the Republican administration of a failure to keep faith with the people.

As millions listened-in by radio, the new leader of the Democratic advocated modification of both the Senate and the right-wing House of Representatives to fit it to the problem of controlling crop surpluses his immediate statement if elected, added the administration's Nicaraguan and Mexican policy, and pledged himself to a "real" endeavor to outlaw war.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his three daughters were delighted with the scenery of Northern Ontario along the Canadian Pacific main line.

Mr. Shaver told the H. D. W. Motherwell's travels. He has motored all over the British Isles and is going to France, Belgium, Germany, Italy and "finally to the Scandinavian countries to see if they have anything on us in the line of agriculture."

Advice To Dairymen

Hon. C. M. Hamilton Says Industry Here Is Not Behind Other Countries

Ottawa, Ont.—Bringing back some friendly advice to Canadian dairymen, Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture in Saskatchewan reached Ottawa. He is returning from the world's dairy conference in London, where 1,800 delegates represented nearly every country in the world.

"Canadian dairying," Mr. Hamilton observed, "does not appear to be behind other countries in the line of production and manufacturing. That may be deemed to be in the uniform high standard of the herds. In that, we are somewhat lacking but it is not surprising since, in a number of the provinces, dairy cattle are not as good as elsewhere."

"To establish ourselves in the British market, as producers of butter or cheese, bacon or any other agricultural product, we must not only place on the market the highest quality but also a steady volume. Merchants whose customers have developed a taste for a certain thing, want to be able to supply it continuously and that is where we sometimes fall down."

Mr. Hamilton told the H. D. W. Motherwell's travels. He has motored all over the British Isles and is going to France, Belgium, Germany, Italy and "finally to the Scandinavian countries to see if they have anything on us in the line of agriculture."

The prince chatted with each member of the party. He was told that many of the delegation were planning to give lectures and write newspaper articles concerning the tour upon their return.

Prince George, in bidding the group farewell, expressed the belief that their visit would do a great deal of good for Canada and the Empire generally.

PRINCE GEORGE GREETS YOUNG AMBASSADORS

Vancouver, B.C.—Royal Highness Prince George was greeted here just before he boarded his ship, H.M.S. Durban, by four members of the Empire ambassadors party now touring Canada and by the organizer of the tour, Frank Lacot.

The prince expressed great interest in the tour of the young ambassadors and said that both he and his brother the Prince of Wales were conversing with it, the latter having been identified with the scheme. His Royal Highness was particularly interested in the tour to other parts of the Empire in the future.

The prince chatted with each member of the party. He was told that many of the delegation were planning to give lectures and write newspaper articles concerning the tour upon their return.

Receives Message From Missing Aviators

Amateur Radio Operator In Command With Greater Rockford

Toledo, Ohio—A long message purported to be from the crew of the Greater Rockford, was received by Joseph E. Williams, an amateur radio operator, who declared he was in direct communication with the crew for ten minutes.

The crew said, according to Williams:

"We are stranded on a small island 100 miles north of Newfoundland. We are Rockford to Sweden. Please send assistance badly. Please do all in your power to get help to us."

Williams, then said he conversed with a member of the crew and in reply to a further question, said: "Just say we are safe and well."

Then Williams stated, the message was garbled and all he was able to catch was, "because we haven't had any deer meat since yesterday."

The communication ended, Williams stated, "with him trying to get in touch with some station all night." Please hurry."

Williams declared the message was received on a wavelength of 42.8 metres at his station 8AME. He was talking directly with the call letters of the Greater Rockford's radio station.

He stated that he first received faint signals at 11:30 and at 11:45 he could hear the sender distinctly, although the interference was bad.

MIGRATION PLAN IS ESSENTIALLY BRITISH PROBLEM

First Girl Has Distinction Of Being First To Pass Up Chance

Wabash, Ind.—Marilyn Lochwood, 9, granddaughter of Mrs. Eva Pettit, turned down a personal invitation of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to take a flight in a plane with him as pilot.

Answering the colonel's request, the little girl said, "I never fly with anyone but my dad."

Lindbergh said, "Young lady, you have the distinction of being the first person to refuse to fly with me."

Refused To Fly With Lindbergh

Little Girl Has Distinction Of Being First To Pass Up Chance

Toronto—While the province of Ontario is willing to co-operate in every possible way in bringing the immigration scheme suggested by Lord Lovat to fruition, Premier Ferguson expressed the opinion that the matter was essentially a British rather than an Ontario problem.

During a meeting of finance held with Lord Lovat in his office here the premier stated that he looked forward with great optimism to the final result although he admitted that the paramount question of finance had not been definitely settled.

The premier pointed out that the Ontario government was already lending money to Ontario farmers and financing settlers in Northern Ontario.

Under the scheme the British government is working directly with the Dominion government and financial debts will be two-fold but between the two governments.

"Would the British Government be willing to finance the scheme if Ottawa decided not to enter into agreement," the premier was asked.

"That is what we were discussing yesterday," replied the premier.

"It will also be a subject of further conference when I meet Lord Lovat again. The British Government is willing to assist in financing the men and I gather from Lord Lovat that the discussions at Ottawa have been satisfactory."

The premier emphasized the opinion that if the farmers of Ontario had a year's wage rather than a season, no difficulty would be encountered in keeping the "men" on the farms.

School Re-Opens

There is something pleasant about school re-opening, especially for mothers. After several weeks of getting up late in the morning, and a take-it-easy attitude, the necessity for more regular arising is a good tonic. It reminds us all that the year is rolling on to its close, and that very shortly the festive Christmas season will be on us again. Even the children appreciate the school re-opening, for there is in eight weeks holiday sufficient time for them to get tired and to wish for the mental activity of school studies.

Complaints From Harvesters

Following close on their arrival, complaints are already being voiced in the press by the British miners who came to help in Canada's harvest. Rain last week halted operations, with the result that men were unable to find employment and dissatisfaction ensued.

These men are led to believe that work will be immediately available on arrival, and it would be if the weather were favorable for harvesting operations. They come with very little money to carry them over an idle period, and no provision is made on the part of immigration authorities or local organizations in farming communities where the men are required, they are left to shift for themselves, and as reported in the Calgary Herald, many of them were riding freight trains to move around to seek work.

By this time with finer weather prevailing, they will have secured work, but the fact that these causes for complaint exist and are given publicity gives a bad impression to people in Great Britain, and extremists will represent these British harvesters as being stranded in Canada without food, money or a place to lay their heads.

It is wrong to send men to outlying stations in a strange land where nobody meets them and they have to hunt around for a place to eat and sleep. Were they coming out entirely on their own initiative with no provisions made to them of immediate work, no criticism could be made, but as in the case of the British harvesters, when they were given glittering promises and then arrive to find in some cases no harvest extended, it is only right that censure should be made of those responsible for this condition.

Here's Another

Some of the most amusing quack remedies are foisted on the public. The latest heard of is a so-called radium ore bar. "You place the ore bar in a thermos bottle or container, fill it with water and let it stand twelve hours. As you drink the water, simply refill the bottle. Drink as much as three quarts daily. The more you drink the better you will feel."

The amusing thing is that people will swear they feel better after using this treatment. The truth of the matter is they drink more water than they are accustomed to and finding benefit from drinking the water, the radium bar is accredited with the benefit: Might just as well put a piece of cast iron in the water as the radium bar.

Must Have Vision to Succeed

If you are to be successful in business you must be an enthusiast. Half-heartedness in anything will never take you over the top. If you are in business you must remember that you have a service to perform, and the more efficiently you carry out your duties, the better will be the results. Of course, this does not necessarily mean that a man must give his services without adequate return. Were he to do that he would soon be reduced to the position of being unable to render any further service. But he should have the vision at all times that he is performing a useful service in whatever line of business he may be engaged in.

Some people still seem to think that a miserably scrawled notice written on a piece of wrapping paper or the bottom of a cardboard box is a good way to advertise. Progressive people look in the local newspaper for advertisements.

Truly enough the road to riches is paved with good intentions. Some people will say—"Oh yes! I intended to do it, but it slipped my memory," or "I was too busy!"

Here's something we didn't know. A friend dropped in to state that a copy of every newspaper, periodical or magazine published within the British Empire must send a copy to the British Museum. However, he states there is no penalty attached for non-compliance, but in order that The Coleman Journal may find a place in the archives of the Empire, a copy will be sent forthwith, so that some record will be on hand of the Crows Nest Pass in that famous institution.

About 1,000 bushels of dog fish oil are being used in the manufacture of the preparation.

The Japanese coronation ceremonies in November will probably result in a demand for more motor cars from this continent. J. A. Lanier, Canadian agent for the automobilist in Tokyo, who sailed recently from Vancouver aboard the Canadian Pacific ship Empress of Japan, in the coronation procession in which one of the most unique specimens of motion have participated in the event, will probably be largely materialized on this occasion, he said.

Forestry Men Enforcing Act

That Forestry men are enforcing the act for protection of the forests against fire is evidenced by prosecutions following infringement conducted by Magistrate Ed. Malandaine, of Creston. On August 14, K. Mannerino was convicted of setting out fire without permit; on August 22, Adolph Hjort was found guilty of a similar offence. A fine of $25 with costs was awarded in each case—Craibrook Courier.

Problems Of Immigration and Assimilation

Speaking of the resolution passed recently at the Saskatchewan conference of provincial groups interested in immigration, that a royal commission should be appointed by the government of Canada to "study from every angle problems of immigration and assimilation," J. A. Stoneman, president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, said that a royal commission, efficiently constituted, would command the confidence of the public. "It can perform a most useful work which members of the House of Commons have neither the time nor facilities to do," he declared. The suggestion of a commission had been already approved by the U.F.C. Saskatchewan section and organized labor, as well as by the Canadian Legion at its last national convention, he pointed out.

The return to Edinburgh was made under pleasanter conditions, sunshines replacing mist and snow. That evening dinner was followed by one of the most interesting and most discussed addresses of the tour. This was the talk by Dr. F. A. E. Clegg, Director of the Animal Breeding Department of Edinburgh University, who spoke on "Animal Breeding—Some Scientific Aspects." Dr. Clegg's address was remarkable not only for the wealth with which he traced the discovery of scientific laws and set forth the limitations of selection, but also for the boldness of his statements. The modern breeder, he contended, had their beginnings in the vision of an artist, the breeder, and the scientist, the accidental appearance of one or more superlative individual animals, and again and again Dr. Clegg stressed the aspect of the ideal animal for which there could be no truly great advance.

Nor was the evening remarkable only for the inspiring address of Dr. Clegg, but during the dinner we were introduced to Mr. Sharp, who was piped in with all honors by Mr. Sharp of our own party, and after dinner were entertained by the Duke of Fife, who had his headquarters in a rich baritone. "My Heart's in the Highlands" his favorite song, first singing us in, was sung in his honor by Mr. Sharp and first of England.

At Philippi we had suffered greatly, and had been importuned clared to you the gospel of God in of the Thessalonians."

Our historian, however, records only Paul's preaching for three consecutive Sabbath in the synagogue at Thessalonica. Luke says, that is, he recited Scripture passages which were printed in the New Testament.

He then told the Jews and the Gentiles that it behoved the Christians to suffer and to rise again from the dead, and that they were raised, or argued that the resurrection must be claimed to them is the Christ.

the spirit and teaching of Christ.

The result of Paul's preaching was

Jack was lying on the couch while Eva sat beside him, the light so shaded that he could not see her face. She sat motionless through it all. He told of his return from the front, of the stories he had of his companions confirmed, as he thought, by seeing her in Edmonton; of his sudden resolve to enlist; and lastly of his meeting with Arthur Warner. "I don't know," he concluded, "what is the explanation of the Winnipeg affair, but I know Helm is innocent. She was sent to that place by someone and is shielding that person. Look at her letters, Eva—read them—and to think I doubted her and left her alone when she needed me!"

Eva took the letters in her cold hands, but she could not read a word.

"I get the news from home from another man," said Jack, breathlessly "and it was his money Helm got instead of mine to help her. Helm had to beg for work and suffer insult. See what she says there—'No one wanted a girl with a bawp.' Wasn't it d—nable, Eva? I rage when I think of it. I blame myself—I shouldn't have believed anything. I knew how sweet and good and true she was—I knew! But the person that sent her for the dope and then sent out is the person who should be shot, and I'll sift it to the bottom when I go to London."

Food Helm insisted it all because she was too honorable to talk.

In his excitement and deep emotion Jack did not notice that his sister had not spoken, but sat with bowed head, like a broken lily.

It was one of the soft nights when the blossoms are still beginning to scent the breeze, when there are those indescribable stirrings and whisperings of spring. Even if nations are at war and planning the destruction of each other, trees leaf and blossoms open. The streets seemed quiet to him, but for the heavy murmur of the busses no one appeared to be abroad.

Suddenly the silence was broken by a weird, spitting noise of an giant fire-cracker; a sound of deadly import to the people of England, for it gave warning of the approach of enemy air craft.

"It's an air raid," Eva answered, without stirring. "They run to the tube stations, but I never go—I feel safer here—I have a dread of being smothered in those terrible places. I've been through three air raids already. So I am not afraid."

Eva spoke with a composure which was not assumed; anything was better than the maddening remorse that had swept over her as Jack told her all about the raid.

Jack went to the window and looked down into the street. Through the open window came the drone of the enemy's Zeppelins, malvolent, horrible, like the buzzing of some poisonous fly.

Then came the continuous cannonading of the anti-air craft gun, like wildest days of battle. The searchlights combed the sky with their ghostly fingers, and people came bursting out of their houses and raced through the dark streets.

Jack was often wondered how people could stand through an air raid. He felt no fear for himself—it didn't occur to him that he could be in danger here in London—his fear was for Eva. "Hadn't we better go, Eva?" he asked anxiously; "it seems to almost above us. Is the tube far again?"

"Not far—but I never go. Come away from the window. There's a bomb—not far away... Come here, Jack, I need you—come here. Come here, Jack, I need you—come here. I know your Helm is in Winnipeg. She is not to blame."

I sent her, Jack. Forgive me—I sent her to the Chinaman's Ask her to forgive me, too. I have been sorry since."

A bomb burst in the square. There was a shattering of glass and a crashing of masonry; a horrible confusion of noises, tearing, screaming, concussions, clanging fire-engines.

By a strange chance the house in which Eva had had her suite stood though many houses in that vicinity fell. At the window all the windows and on the window sill of the room in which they stood was thrown the body of a little dead dog.

On the floor, where she had fallen, Eva lay, a piece of shrapnel in her cheek.

Jack stayed in London until Eva was out of danger. She would recover, the white-uniformed doctor at Guy's told him, but of course she would be badly scarred.

Behind her bandages, Eva smiled feebly. "It's all right Jack," she said wanly, holding his hand; "better women than I have been blown to pieces. Maybe God is giving me a few more years to atone for what I have done. I have been a poor sport, Jack. I am not a good sport."

I am not complaining. Life is queer, Jack, isn't it? I wanted to show Humphrey I wasn't as selfish and shallow as he thought. He told me in the last quarrel we had, and the only one, that I would never be an old woman—I would only be a stale novelty. I was determined to show him I had some thought of doing things for other people's, so I came home and joined the V.A.D. work. What I really wanted to do was to drive an ambulance in France, but I was afraid, not of death, but of disfigurement. I hate ugliness so—so far more than sin."

"It was my hatred of ugliness, not of sin," Eva continued, "which cured me of the drug habit. I had learned to take dope just because it gave me a thrill—it saved me from dullness; but I saw that—admit—of the doctor's part in it, something like—no, but terrible to look at—pasty-faced, dead-drunk, mouth agape and I could see I might some day like that, So, Jack, I never touched it again."

Eva paused for a long time: "But now, with a blue scar on my cheek and my nose broken I will not be afraid. I will go to France. Maybe I can take the place of some better and happier woman, and when the shell comes marked for me, I will be ready."

"I am the only one who can tell you what Helm all of this and that; her to think kindly of me as she can. She loves me once with all a young girl's ardor."

Jack kissed his sister tenderly with a deep sorrow in his heart. He could not reproach her—there was no need. His own heart was aching with the sorrow of it all. Sin and sorrow—the age-old partnership—sin and sorrow. By one man sin came into the world and death by sin; but the outcome of sin is not always the one who suffers."

Jack had called Keith, his former partner, from Paris to send to London one thousand dollars. But when he reached London he found that no reply had come. Thus Keith of Winnipeg, could not be found. He had left the city over a year ago, and his creditors had not been able to trace him.

Jack sat on one of the wooden benches in the cage office in London and thought. He was severely detached of what this meant to him. He wondered at his own calmness in the face of such a smashing blow, for the gold mine on the Nehanni, with all the comfort and luxury it would bring him, had been much in his thoughts during the cheerless months of imprisonment. He had planned many generous surprises for his companions too.

Jack had been following a fine light. He had been a gainful asset to the company.

There was about two hundred dollars coming to him from the War Office, and he would be given transportation home. Prisoners who had escaped through a neutral country were not allowed to go back into the army.

When the Olympic sailed out of the harbor at Liverpool saluted by the mucky waters of the Mersey, Jack stood on the deck looking back at the receding shores of England. He had laid him to rest and much disillusioned by the fatuity of war; the all-too-wasteful of young life; the horrible suffering and slaughter.

And Eva, his only relative! He choked with bitter memories as he thought of it all. There came there to him, heaving up through all this, like a fountain of sweet water in the sea, the memory of Arthur Warner and his unselfish love, and of Helm, with her clear, sweet soul and her honorable silence.

Jack walked to the prow of the vessel and looked away into the gray distance. Behind him lay the sorrow for the loss of his mistakes and regrets. Before him lay Canada—and little else.

NEW all the way through

In Design.. Performance and Beauty

THIS new McLaughlin-Buick is a radically new and individual conception of the modern automobile. A dazzling new type of motor car beauty, unlike anything heretofore known—longer, larger, more luxurious bodies, more spacious interiors. Fish eye headlights—seats providing plenty of room for three adult passengers—a tremendous increase in power, getaway and flexibility—these are highlight features of this most brilliant of new car designs.

A new and deeper radiator of distinctive design—striking new chrome-plated head-lamps and cowl-lamps—arresting new lines and colors—all combine to lend an air of distinction, poise and distinction utterly new to automobile design.

And in performance, too, the new McLaughlin-Buick outshines all previous achievements. Power, speed, acceleration, stability, stamina—all are greatly increased—all are unified and co-ordinated to a hitherto unknown degree.

In addition, the 1929 McLaughlin-Buick introduces a host of engineering refinements including a new high-pressure gas pump, new carburetor with new intake jets—new, easy-action clutch—new and improved steering gear, new and more reliable bearings—and many other features of the first importance.

See the 1929 McLaughlin-Buick. Drive it. Make it your car. And rest assured there is none in the world that surpasses it.

Long May Bill and his comrades in other isolated posts continue their allotted tasks—always watching, with the ever changing light and shade of the mountains, the round of their daily bachelor household duties and the companionship of the squirrels and the birds, to furnish them diversion in this life which a man must have a love for in order to stick to it. —H.
